CREATING A ROAD MAP FOR YOUR FUTURE

Karen Jacobsen is as at-home in front of a conference audience as she is on center stage at a stadium. Her one woman keynote presentation "Road Map for Your Future" is a sixty minute experience designed to open or close your conference or event.

The GPS Girl reveals how she navigated her way from the Great Barrier Reef to the Big Apple and shares the directions she followed to become:

- the number one most popular downloadable GPS voice
- a performer of the Star Spangled Banner at major sporting events at Madison Square Garden, Dodger Stadium and Fenway Park
- an award winning Singer and Songwriter who has shared the stage with Norah Jones, Cyndi Lauper, Christopher Cross and Spyro Gyra
- able to maintain an international travel schedule with family life as a wife and Mom to her three year old son.

The GPS Girl is the right opening or closing Speaker for your next conference if:

1. Your group is interested in being entertained and inspired by a one woman force of nature.
2. You are ready to learn how to "recalculate" in life just like you do in your car, so you can keep moving toward your "destination", and
3. You'd love to create a road map for your future.

Most importantly, your people will listen to directions like they never have before from The GPS Girl "live".

Road Map for Your Future is designed to do four things:

- To leave your people with more focus on a daily basis
- To give them more confidence in themselves
- To build more courage to take the small steps they need to take every day
- To create a road map for their future success.

This is the one show they will never forget, leaving everyone engaged with their potential, and with tools to implement immediately that will stick for the long term.

If you're looking for someone to zero in on the things your people need to create a road map for their future, then 'you have reached your destination'.
